

Online Ordering FAQs

Why do I need to select a preferred dealer?

ShopBOSS is an extension of BOSS's Authorized Dealer network. It is offered as a convenient method of obtaining Genuine BOSS Equipment from the convenience of your home or business, or by mobile device.

The dealer you choose will be the dealer you will go to if you should need service, warranty work, etc. If you require your products faster than ShopBOSS can deliver, we recommend that you go to their store or call to check availability. Dealer pricing may vary from ShopBOSS pricing.

You can locate your nearest dealer by visiting www.bosspow.com/locator. When creating a ShopBOSS account, the dealer you initially select will be your "default" dealer – meaning every time you log in to ShopBOSS that dealer's information will populate. You can change your dealer at any point by visiting your account selections or at checkout. If you do not create a ShopBOSS account, you will be asked to select a dealer each time you checkout.

Why do I need to contact a dealer for pricing?

Some of our products are not shippable via UPS, our shipping method for ShopBOSS. Many times the product is too large or too heavy for this shipping method. In that case, we recommend you contact your preferred dealer to see if they have the item in stock.

Items that are shippable via UPS but are shown as "not available" are likely out of stock or may be discontinued. It is possible your preferred dealer still has stock on items that ShopBOSS shows as out of stock, so please contact your dealer for details. When the item comes back in stock, pricing and an "add to cart" button will reappear.

Why are some products not available on ShopBOSS?

Products that are unavailable on ShopBOSS include parts that are too large or too heavy to ship via UPS, hazardous materials, and parts that are on backorder or out of stock. In the case of products that are on backorder or out of stock, when stock is replenished they will again be available on ShopBOSS. Your preferred dealer may have the items in stock that are not available on ShopBOSS, so please contact your dealer for details.

Can I track my order online?

A Shipping Confirmation e-mail is sent with the UPS tracking number when your order ships. You may track the order via the UPS tracking site. To ensure that your ShopBOSS e-mails get to your inbox, please add NoReply@BOSSPlow.com to your e-mail Address Book or Safe List or through your Spam filter. Registered ShopBOSS users can view their order history and status via "Order History" under "My Account." Unregistered users can view their order via the "Order Search" link in the top navigation of www.bosspow.com.

How long will it take my order to arrive?

Typically, orders will arrive at your home within 3-7 business days. In rare instances, when an in-stock item becomes unavailable after you have placed an order, you will be notified of the status of that order via e-mail. In the event of inclement weather or other acts of nature, we are not responsible for delivery delays and we will NOT reimburse shipping charges for these types of delays. View our Shipping Policy for further details.
